5 Steps To Cut Back Spending This Holiday

One tradition that may bring more anxiety than excitement this season is the anticipation of holiday spending and gift giving.

It should come as no surprise to most that economists are predicting significantly less spending this holiday season than in previous years. Facing growing financial concerns, a lack of confidence in the economy, and rising food and fuel costs, many shoppers will be much more conservative with their holiday spending.

Here are five simple ways to cut back on costs this holiday season without having to cut back on giving:

1. Be Thrifty!

Believe it or not, it is possible to get top of the line items without paying top of the line prices. Seek gifts from consignment shops and thrift stores. Savvy shoppers can find everything from designer clothes and shoes to home appliances and furniture, all for highly discounted prices. Often these items can be found brand new.

2. Stay Alert.

Just because a deal seems too good to be true doesn't mean it is. Utilize retailer incentives and in-store promotions. Offers such as free shipping, buy-one-get-one-free or "the more you spend the more you save" are great ways to save excess funds, particularly when buying multiple gifts at once or when buying in bulk.

3. Shop Smart for Practical Items.

Buying gifts during the holidays is often just the tip of the iceberg. It's the food and other everyday items that add up too. The good news is you don't have to skimp on quality to save on cost. Shop smart and choose brands that offer great performance at a lower price. Take batteries, for instance. Americans will spend more than $600 million on them this holiday season. But there's an easy way to save. Rayovac batteries are proven to last just as long as the top two brands but cost less. So that remote control car for Johnny may cost an arm and a leg, but the batteries don't have to.

4. Create a List.

This is probably the easiest and yet most underestimated tool there is — create a list and stick to it. Creating a list accomplishes a couple of very important things: it helps shoppers stay organized and focused, and it serves as a good tool for managing a budget. Take extra time upfront to carefully think through who will be on the list and how the set budget will break out overall. It will make shopping a breeze and ultimately alleviate unnecessary stress along the way. And isn't that the best gift of all?

5. Shop Online.

Online shopping has many benefits beyond avoiding crowded stores and checkout lines. A number of online couponing sites now make it quicker and easier than ever to shop online and save big. Shoppers can often browse by their favorite store or category to find coupon codes for discounted prices, free shipping and more. And you can achieve this from the comfort of home, where the gas prices don't matter.

Holiday Safe Cooking Tips: What every cook should know.

It might seem like common sense, but in the heat of the kitchen and the Holiday crunch it's easy to forget simple safe food handling steps. This holiday season keep these guidelines on your refrigerator or posted where you can see them while you are cooking.

Always wash your hands before you begin AND in between handling meat, poultry or fish and then handling vegetables.

Avoid cross contamination by using different cutting boards for meat, poultry, fish and vegetables. Keep meats on the bottom rack of your refrigerator so if the juices accidentally leak they won't land on unprotected food. Remember to keep thawing meat on a plate too.

Check the temperature of your refrigerator and freezer with an appliance thermometer. The refrigerator should be at 40 °F or below and the freezer at 0 °F or below.

Have a safe and healthy holiday season!

By Charles J. Spencer CLU

We have been very busy the last few months designing a new website for Teen Driver Safety and redesigning our original website.

Check out our new and improved website www.spencerinsurance.com. We know you have a busy schedule and can not always reach us from 9 to 5. Our website was designed with this in mind. We wanted to make it even easier for you to contact us.

Use this website to:

- Get an ID Card
- Contact us with a change to your policy
- Make a billing inquiry about a policy
- Get a quote for life, disability, long term care, auto and home insurance.
- Find claim reporting numbers and websites for all our carriers.
- Provide Free Reports which educate you on a number of topics
- Provide web links to the Department of Motor Vehicles, Kelly Blue book and more.
- Contact us by email with a question
- Check out Charlie's weekly Blog

Check out our new website at www.teendriverinsurance.com/spencer designed to help parents instruct their teen on becoming a safe driver.

This website includes:

- Free Reports on many Teen safety topics
- 101 ways to keep your Teen safe
- Home study driving safety course with 16 pre planned lessons
- Information on a GPS Teen Driver Monitoring System
- Teenager/Parent Driving Contract and Careless Driving Consequences
- Access to Charlie's monthly email newsletter, "Driver's Seat"

The websites are available 24/7 for your convenience, but don't worry, you can still call us or leave a voicemail. We will return your call promptly; just leave us the best phone number for us to reach you. I appreciate your feedback. If at anytime you are not completely pleased with our service I want to know. Email me or call and ask for me. I will get back to you. Your protection and Peace of Mind is our only business!

Include Life Insurance in Your 'Must Have' Budget

As you re-examine your monthly expenses to cover the escalating costs of food and fuel, it's important to consider life insurance in your plans. While it may be tempting to think a life insurance policy is out of reach in today's economy, it's actually more affordable than you think — especially if you plan for it in the same way you budget for everything else.

The reason for doing so is simple. Most of us dream of being financially secure to enjoy life's pleasures and to protect loved ones. We all hope to achieve milestones such as purchasing a home, having children, enjoying vacations, sending the kids to college and having a nest egg for retirement.

We also have the best of intentions to save and put money aside if emergencies arise, but as we all know, it's very challenging. However, preparing a financial plan can help you navigate through life's events to achieve these goals. A critical component of a sound plan is life insurance, the backbone of financial security.

Budget-friendly Protection

How do you put aside money for life insurance when your wallet is already being stretched? Start by creating a month-by-month budget, setting a savings goal and projecting your financial needs. A qualified professional financial advisor can help you assess your situation, determine future goals and show you how to achieve these milestones.

Minor adjustments to everyday spending habits can also have a big impact. For example, if you choose to carpool to save on gas, consider a similar adjustment to pay for life insurance, such as going out to dinner less often. Say you eat out once a week and the bill averages $50. By sacrificing one dinner a month, you can afford a quality life insurance policy and provide needed protection for you and your family.

Including life insurance in your budget can help keep you and your loved ones financially healthy for whatever the future may bring, filling the gap between financial needs and financial realities.

Everyone, no matter whether you are single, married and starting a family, or entering retirement, needs life insurance because it provides financial protection for an uncertain future.

Teen Corner

Recently there have been news articles pushing for the minimum age for a teen driver to be pushed up to 17 nationwide. The reasoning is that Teen Driver deaths would go down significantly.

Another recent push has been to increase to 100 the number of hours needed before driving unsupervised. I think we all agree our teens benefit from more supervised time behind the wheel. However as parents we struggle and are given little guidance on what to do with this valuable time. Driver training schools typically provide only 6 to 8 hours of training. What do we do with the other 92? Let us help you. Call our office today at 215-885-2200 for our “Safe Teen Driver Guide” which contains 16 lessons. These lessons provide a step by step outline of driving skills and practice exercises that parents can use to teach their teen to drive. By using this guide, parents can spend time with their child and make the experience more enjoyable. Plus it gives parents the peace of mind of knowing that their child is a safe driver. We want to help you make your teen a safe driver. Call us today!
